

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Sons of Veterans held their regular meeting in the I. O. G. T. hall last night.

E. K. Walbridge, A. Buck and Ross Moore leave today for a few days' trip down the Gila River to examine some mining property.

The Kellner store is wide awake as usual and are offering new inducements constantly, as may be seen by their advertisement in another column.

The Republican League convention meets tomorrow to organize a territorial league and elect officers; also to elect delegates to the National League.

The supreme court transacted routine business yesterday and the time was taken up by the lawyers in the various cases to come up during the term.

A pleasant party spent the early part of last night in dancing at the Fry building. Invitations are out for another party at the same place on Friday night.

Chas. D. Poston has established a branch land office at the Hole-in-the-rock and is taking Sunday subscriptions for choice tracts around the business center.

W. Zent filed location on the north half of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 9, township 5 north, range 4 east, for stone quarry.

A party of young people went out to attend the public installation of the officers of Unity lodge No. 11, I. O. G. T., at the school house in district No. 14, last night.

W. Crosby's eight-horse team will be used on the grading machine in the work on Washington street. They will work four abreast and will make a strong team.

"Cacti" and "Honey Comb" are the names of two mining locations filed yesterday by O. D. Merrill, C. R. Hakes, Edgar L. Stormont, D. A. Reed and A. A. Walsworth.

Joseph Thalheimer leased the store room occupied by J. W. Dorris, yesterday, for a period of three years, at $50 per month. He is getting quite high on Washington street.

Norman Sinclair and Anna Fleetham are now married for better or worse and he is under $100 bonds to await the action of the grand jury. Anna was released on her own recognizance.

The party consisting of Henry Gardias, wife and children and Miss L. Borques, who have for the past four weeks been at the hot springs on Castle Creek, returned at 11 o'clock Monday night. Mr. Gardias is much improved by the outing.

The stage driver from Castle Creek met with a serious accident yesterday. He was driving his team and leading a horse behind when the horse he was leading took a spell of "don't go." The driver's arm was caught with the halter rope and broken.

The Treble Clef club held a meeting at the residence of Mrs. W. C. Budge yesterday afternoon. They took luncheon along and spent a pleasant afternoon. The popular ladies of this club understand the art of entertaining and always have a happy time at their afternoon.

John Ambler has sold a mining claim called the "Eleventh Hour" to a syndicate in this city, composed of Hewins, Trask and Talbot. These gentlemen already owned two claims adjoining and needed this one to finish the group. The amount paid is not definitely known, but the sale was a handsome one.

Two experts have been inspecting the Bonanza mine, owned by Hubbard & Powers, on the Harqua Hala, and parties coming in from that district say the mine has without a doubt been sold to parties in San Francisco. The amount paid is supposed to be $90,000. This is a fine piece of property and a big producer.

The work of decorating, papering, repainting, carpeting and resetting the M. E. South church has been completed and the interior of the building presents a pleasing appearance. From an artistic standpoint as well as choice material used, this, the pioneer church of the city, stands at the head. The exterior walls of the church will be either veneered with brick or given a new plaster finish to make it harmonize with the interior.

He Wanted the Sheriff.

Some one who evidently did not understand the lay of the country called on Secretary Kirkland yesterday and wanted to know whether the sheriff was in. Mr. Kirkland was busy and told him to go to the next door. As Marshall Blankenship was not in he returned and told the secretary he was not in at present and walked innocently away.

A SECOND CAIN.

His First Name is Michael and he may be lynched.

LAMONT, Ill., May 10.—Superintendent William Wells of the Illinois Stone company, a well known and highly respected citizen of this place, while on his way to the quarries this morning, was shot and killed by Michael Cain, an employee, with whom he had some words a few days ago. The inhabitants are greatly excited over the murder and there is talk of lynching Cain.

Discovery of Petroleum.

CINCINNATI, O., May 10.—A dispatch from Sunbright, Tenn., says great excitement prevails in Central Tennessee adjacent to the line of the Queen and Crescent route and bordering on the Kentucky state line owing to the discovery of vast petroleum fields. A great many companies from Pennsylvania and other parts of the country are sinking wells, and from present indications there will be found the largest oil fields of the south.

A Louisiana Contest.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 10.—Hon. Albert Leonard, Republican candidate for governor, Major Andrew Hero and Judge Marks are here to file a demand under the constitution to seat Leonard.

Not Even the Commonest Civility.

Women who think it so strange that New York men occupy seats in crowded cars, elevated and otherwise, while female passengers clutch for straps, should draw the moral from an incident that happened in a Fifth avenue stage a few days ago. One of those clumsy vehicles was lumbering up the avenue with two passengers, one a middle aged man sitting by the door. At nineteenth street the stage stopped, and an old lady, after bidding an affectionate farewell to a friend at the step, climbed in and sat down opposite the middle aged passenger. The latter was gazing idly into the street, when he felt a touch, and suddenly found himself in possession of a nickel. Evidently it came from the newly entered passenger, though she favored him with neither word nor glance. It was equally plain that it was her fare, and that she expected the middle aged man to deposit it in the box.

After a moment's hesitation he arose, groped his way to the forward end of the stage, dropped the nickel into its proper resting place, and returned, glancing involuntarily at the old lady for some word or look of thanks. None came. She adjusted her fur wrap and seemed oblivious of his presence. The bus rumbled on up Fifth avenue for some minutes without incident, when the old lady suddenly leaned over and said, "Stop the stage at Thirty-fourth street." The middle aged man flushed slightly with evident annoyance, and said decisively: "Madam, you compelled me to deposit your fare a few moments ago, and omitted the commonest civilities in doing so. I am neither the driver nor conductor of this stage, and though I should instantly respond to a courteous request, you may stop this stage wherever you please—for yourself!" and she did.—New York Tribune.

The electoral college of 1892 will be composed of 444 members. There will be 356 representatives in the next house. The basis of representation is one member for each 173,000 of population, or a majority fraction thereof.

Methodist Conference.

OMAHA, May 10.—Bishop Fitzgerald presided at today's session of the Methodist conference. It seems to be the prevailing opinion that no bishops are to be elected at this session.

Not a Lien.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Judge Gresham today decided that receiver certificates could not become a lien on the property of the Grape Creek Coal company of Vermilion, Ill., as against the company's bonds. He holds that "private coal companies are not in the same position as railroads. The decision establishes an important precedent which may be applied to the case of the United States Rolling Stock company with surprising results.
